55-57 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

It started out as a nice enough day. The weather was unusually warm for the third week in November. So I was in a good mood when my mother dropped me off at school. Everything went as usual that morning: the classes were boring and nothing exciting was happening. At noon, I went to the cafeteria for lunch. While I was standing in line with my friend, again as usual, I noticed that some of other students were excited about something. Then a girl in line asked me if I had heard that someone had shot the president. I was surprised at this news: however, I figured that it was probably just a minor wound. Suddenly a voice came over the loud speaker announcing that the president was dead.

55- From the passage, we can infer that this time of the year ____.

- A) the weather is usually colder.
- B) the writer is usually in a good mood.
- C) nothing exciting happens.
- D) the writer finds the classes boring.

- A) likes chattering while waiting in line
- B) usually pays great attention to the loud speaker in the cafeteria.
- C) is more interested in exciting things than in his lessons.
- D) usually has to wait in a queue to get food for lunch.
- E) prefers having lunch with his classmates in the cafeteria.

57- Hearing the news, the writer ____.

- A) didn't know what to think
- B) predicted the president's death.
- C) thought that the wound might be a slight one
- D) understood that the president was seriously wounded
- E) couldn't help feeling sorry for the president.

58-60 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Like most people, for many years, I remained frightened of the laser, perceiving it as a deadly device capable of enormous destruction. Although the laser does have tremendous potential for destruction, my unreasonable fear of the laser is fading. In recent years, scientists have found that the laser has a wide variety of applications, making it one of the most important inventions in the last quarter of a century for improving our quality of life.

58- Many people get scared of the laser ____.

- A) for it may cause great damage.
- B) because its applications can be important for improvement.
- C) since it has a wide variety of applications.
- D) considering the amount of energy it needs.
- E) thinking that it is too dangerous for scientists to experiment with.

59- The laser is an invention ____.

Stress is important. We all need a certain amount of it in order to lead fulfilling lives. However, if we have too much of it, it can have the opposite effect. Some people can tolerate greater levels of stress than others, but most of us will suffer at some time in our lives. It is therefore a good idea to learn a few stress management techniques. Identifying the cause of the problem we have, so that we can solve it more effectively, is one of the first steps towards reducing stress. The second is talking to a person you can trust, who will listen and, if necessary, give you some positive advice. Not only are smoking and drinking harmful to our health, they actually increase stress rather than reduce it. So, next time you want to relax, instead of reaching for that glass of wine or a cigarette, have a warm bath or go for a walk. Walking has more than health benefits, it helps you think more clearly, too. Pets have a calming influence on us, unless they make noise which irritates us. In fact, unwanted noises should be avoided as far as possible. On the other hand, laughter is one of the best ways to make yourself feel considerably better.

61- According to the author

- A) in order to live a complete life, everybody needs a certain amounts of stress.
- B) even a bit of laughter relieves the people full of stress.
- C) if you have a stress you should go to the psychiatrist directly.
- D) unwanted environment makes stress.
- E) it is impossible to live without stress.

62- The author states that stress management techniques

- A) will do good to everybody who applies them.
- B) initially include the identification of the cause of the problem in order to solve it more effectively.
- C) sometimes don't work.
- D) help people feel confident.
- E) exclude smoking and drinking.

63- It is stated in the passage that smoking and drinking

- A) are alternative to stress management techniques to reduce the stress.
- B) can be replaced by a warm bath and a walk in case of stress.
- C) help people think clearly.
- D) are the best ways to feel yourself better.
- E) are applied by many people although they are against them.

64. -66. Soruları paragrafa göre cevaplayınız.

Because television plays such a great part in our lives, it is easy to forget that it is a very recent invention. Young people under the age of twenty five, or thereabouts, are the first generation to have lived with television all of their lives and many people who are little more than middle-aged will remember that the radio made its first appearance in their lives during their childhood. Now there are few households in Britain without a television or a radio set yet the most popular television programmes can attract audiences of twenty to twenty five million viewers. It is not unusual for someone to spend over twenty hours a week in front of a television set. Television has certainly become the most important source of entertainment and information for a great number of people. There will always be arguments over whether television and radio have a harmful effect on us. What is undeniable is that they will be with us for some time and we will be able to make better use of them if we know the range of programmes they provide. This might even help us to appreciate the programmes and therefore gain more from our viewing and listening.

64- It is stated in the passage that people don't realise that TV is a very new invention because

- A) almost all the people have TV sets in their homes.
- B) recent programmes help people learn about the other countries.
- C) it is cheap enough for everybody to buy.
- D) documentaries give information about the world.
- E) the new generation is raised with the new technology.

65- We can understand from the passage that.....

- A) radio and TV are indispensable parts of our daily lives.
- B) the old pensioners watch TV programmes for about 20 hours a week.
- C) people have been watching for about three decades.
- D) producers should produce programmes for especially young generation.
- E) many people entertain and get information through TVs and radios.

66- We can conclude from the passage that

- A) if people know to choose what to watch on TV, they benefit from the programmes and get more from viewing and listening.

- B) it's quite normal for someone to watch TV five hours a day.
- C) it's important that programmes for children be produced.
- D) in case of too many TV channels it's difficult to choose which to watch.
- E) many TV and radio programmes have harmful affects on people so they must be censored by the authorities.

67-69 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

EMILY BRONTE, born in 1818, was one of a clever family which included her sister Charlotte, who wrote "JANE EYRE". Their mother died young and the children had a severe upbringing, receiving little affection from their father. Mr. Bronte, an Irishman, was a priest of the Church of England, and had a charge of a church in a wild part of Yorkshire, where the country people, at this time, far from civilisation, were very hard, unfriendly and violent. Emily's love of this part of the country, and her knowledge of its people, are reflected in "Wuthering Heights", her only novel.

67- According to the passage, it is true that ____.

- A) Charlotte is the heroine of the book "Jane Eyre".
- B) Emily Bronte is the writer of the book "Jane Eyre".
- C) Charlotte wasn't as famous as Emily.

- A) contributed greatly to her sister's book.
- B) wrote about famous people she met in Ireland.
- C) couldn't get on well with the people around because of their lack of civilisation.
- D) was a very famous writer before her death.
- E) wrote the book "Wuthering Heights", but didn't write any other novels.

70-72.soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Loch Ness has long been famous for its monster but in 1978 a visitor to this Scottish lake could have seen something quite different - a duck. This wasn't an ordinary duck. It had no feathers and it could not fly. In fact, it was made of metal and had been placed on the lake for a purpose. The purpose was to test the cost of using water energy to produce electricity. The duck was one of many all of which were connected. As the water was moved by the wind, the ducks moved up and down, and this movement was used to produce electricity.

70- Loch Ness ____.

- A) is a city full of monsters
- B) gained public recognition when a monster was seen there
- C) is a lake in Scotland

73.-75. Soruları paragrafta göre cevaplayınız.

The population problem arises as the result of a high birth rate, together with a fairly high death rate which is now in some parts declining rapidly, as the result of improvements in public health. There are, in consequence, an increasing number of Survivors producing a population growth of 3 percent annually in Turkey whereas this rate is 0.3 percent for England. Between 1900 and 1967, the population of Turkey grew from approximately 9 million to 34 million, resulting in an annual increase now of just under one million. Even an increase of 2 percent per annum in population, can, if unchecked, lead to a doubling of numbers in less than forty years. So long as food supplies can be increased at a commensurate rate, either by farming within the country, or by an expansion of industry and commerce that can pay for imported food, the position is without danger.

73- It is mentioned in the passage that population problem

- A) occurs as a consequence of high death rate
- B) can be overcome if the birth rate increases
- C) has decreased in all parts of the country
- D) is the result of a high birth and a low death rate
- E) will become greater as long as food production increases

74- It is clear in the passage that population growth in England ____.

- A) is nearly the same as Turkey's
- B) will be more than Turkey's in the following years
- C) is a big problem for them but not for Turkey
- D) has been rapidly increasing especially in the last 20 years
- E) is only one-tenth of Turkey's

75- We can conclude from the passage ____.

- A) increase in population can't be considered dangerous if necessary precautions are taken
- B) agriculture isn't important for the future
- C) England is faced with a more serious problem than Turkey
- D) there's no connection between trade and population growth
- E) every country should import goods for the sake of its economy
